THE NEWS FOR THE WAR.

A SHORT, SHARP AND DECISIVE CAM-PAIGN.

Chespest Political Information Ever Offered to the Public.

THE NOMINATIONS OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY having been made, THE CHARLESION NEWS has put on its armor and will go into the grand contest with all the zeal, vigor and carnestness that a full consciousness of devotion to the right inspires. Its blows will fall thickly, steadily and rapidly; and if the friends of law, order. and the Constitution do their duty by extending its circulation, its labors can be made powerfully effeclive for good. We appeal, then, to our readers to the our remarkably low terms and go to work with a will to get up large clubs for THE CHARLES-TOR NEWS.

The campaign now begun will be the most exciting, as it unquestionably is the most important, the country has ever witnessed. The life of the nation and the liberties of the people depend upon the resnit. A triumph of the Radicals will result in the atter desolation and rain of the South, and the placing of an ignorant and brutal race in all positions and places of honor and trust, to the exclusion of the white race. The government must be wrested from the thieves and plunderers who now have control of it, and power placed in the hands of a party pledged to give peace to a distracted country, and to make it ent for white men, and not for negroes. It is only necessary that the people should be thor-oughly informed to accomplish this, and THE NEWS will be in admirable means of diffusing this

Our Washington Dispatches. Washington, July 17.—In the Senate last night Senator Hendricks endeavored to recall the bill from the House which removes the political disabilities from the Badical members of the Georgia Legislature. He spoke very bitterly of such partisan legislation. There was a full cabinet meeting to-day, last-

The third party movement is dead.

The credentials of Mesars. Kellog, Pierce and Buckley, claiming to be representatives from Alabams, were presented and their refer ence asked. Brooks inquired whether these gentlemen were elected at a one-sided election. Mr. Dawes said the committee would inquire faithfully into any matters confided to them. They simply examined the credentials to ascertain if they were correct, and whether they presented a prima facie case. Cullem, of Illinois, asked if there was any law to prevent electors from voting on one side if they desired to do so.

Brooks replied that he knew of none, but there was a law of Congress prescribing how their elections should be held, and the people of Alabama had not held their elections in conformity to that law.

The credentials were then referred to the Committee on Elections. The Funding bill was resumed. Steven favored paying the five-twenties in greenbacks, and a wild discussion ensued. Finally, an amendment making but one class of bonds at 3.65 per cent. interest, to run for forty years, was adopted. Without definite action, the bill was postponed. The credentials of the Louisiana representatives were duly referred. IN THE SENATE, John Pool and John A. Abbott, senators from North Carolina, and Wm. Pitt Kellog, from Louisiana, took their seats. A bill anthorizing a temporary three per cent. loan in liquidation of the compound interest notes, was passed.

The ratification of the Howard amendment

by Louisiana was read.

The Senate then adjourned. The indications are that the Funding bill will House will recede from their amendment. The Senate Committee has under consideration to-day a bill to build a railroad from Cairo, Illinois, to the Rio Grande. The bill calls for government aid in the form of a guarantee of bonds; also a bill for a road two hundred miles long on the lowlands in Mississippi; also for building levees in the same section. The bills were postponed to the next session. It is understood that General Fremont is at the head of the Cairo and Rio Grande Road.

THE NATURALIZATION QUESTION-IMPORTANT STATEMENT-THE TWO NATIONS IN ACCORD. LONDON, July 17 .- The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh have visited Commodore Farragut's fleet. Farragut has also visited the Queen at Osborne. He will soon sail eastward

In the House of Commons, last evening, Lord Stanley, the Foreign Secretary, made an important statement in answer to a question. He said he had already sent a communication to the United States on the naturalization question, the substance of which was that the British Ministry were ready to accept the American view of the matter. He, therefore, thought any misunderstanding between the two nations was impossible. Lord Stanley also stated that he had declined to make any treaty at present, as the Royal Commission is still considering the general subject, and for the additional reason that time will not permit the passage of a bill for the purpose at the present session of Parliament.

Riot in Galveston.

GALVESTON, July 17 .- A riot began on the evening of the 15th, at Milligan, on the Central Railroad. A mob of twenty-five negroes, led by a white school teacher and a negro preacher, attempted to hang a man named Halliday. This was prevented by the white citizens, who, headed by the Sheriff and Bureau agent, attempted to suppress the mob, which resulted in the death of ten or twelve negroes. On the 16th the numbers on both sides were increased, and skirmishing occurred during the day. Casualties estimated at twenty-five.

A small body of troops arrived late last night, and dispersed the rioters, killing three negroes. The negroes, about five hundred in number, fortified themselves three miles from Milligan, and refused to lay down their arms. The troops then dispersed them. The entire loss of life is about fifty or sixty. The difficulty is said to have arisen from a suspicion that a negro member of the Loyal League had been hung. This man has been found.

THE ELECTION OF SAWYER-WHAT WAS EXPECT-ED-HOW MACKEY LAID THE WIRES-THE RING -HUBLEY AND THE EMBLEM OF HIS OFFICE-WHO EILLED COCK RUBIN-THE MOURNERS-UNPAID DRAFTS.

[FROM OUR OWN REPORTER]

already announced to your readers the election of Frederick A. Sawyer, Esq., as United States enator for the long term, ending March 4th, 1873. The victory which he has thus achieved over his chief competitor, Dr. A. G. Mackey, is doubly important from the fact that it not only secures to the people of South Carolina a representative who, however much he may differ with them politically, is still a gentleman and a scholar, but it breaks down all those extensive ramifications of political power which Dr. Mackey has sought to create and control. Had the latter succeeded in his purpose no oligaronly his speeches as evidence of his future intentions when elected, South Carolina would have been held in an iron grip, and her people would have been doomed to a fate worse than death to gratify the vengeance and satisfy the pride of the now disappointed candidate Hence it is that the Legislature itself developed an opposition to him which has resulted in his overthrow; hence it is that there has been exhibited a degree of Conservative feeling in one wing of the Radical party which heretofore was unknown; hence it is that white and colored alike have recognized the importance of elevating to the senatorship a man respected by the whole people; and hence it is that the Democrats on the floor threw their votes at the last in favor of Mr. Sawyer, believing that, of two evils, it was best to choose the least, and knowing that, unless they so voted, the election of Dr. Mackey would be as much due to them as if they had openly esponsed his cause. It appears as if retributive ustice had placed in the hands of the little band who represent the white people of South Carolina both the opportunity and the weapon to punish one whose aim and object has been the subversion of liberty and the degradation of those whom he so bitterly hated, impugned and denounced. For six months Dr. Mackey has drilled his party, and prepared them for this contest. With Bowen, Chamberlain, Neagle, Parker, Cardoza, DeLarge, Ransier, Rainey, Dennis and others, he formed "a ring," the influences of which have reached every petty election in every town and district of the State. Boards of Commissioners were created by the Convention, and the public funds manipulated for the purpose of running the vast machine, and the party came to Columbia satisfied that every wire had been laid and was ready to be pulled. The "inner ring" took up their abode here in a private house, and with much theatrical effect hung from the portico the flag around which the "loyal" men of Charleston were wont, in their dark days, to say their prayers. Eighty odd votes were counted as sure for the first ballot, and confidence reigned supreme. Meanwhile little Timothy Hurley, with his carpet bag, arrived. Tim had been snubbed marks, improper rulings, and everything else | the first to follow. Doyle, Field, Keith, & calculated to hurt the feelings of individual delegates. He called upon them, stimulated their prejudices, raked up old stories, opened old sores, and finally, by mere naked perseverance, succeeded in building up a party opposed to Dr. Mackey and his "ring." After the elections he visited every senator and representative in person at his home, and there renewed his efforts. Mr. Sawyer was brought forward, and forty men stood pledged to vote for him before-coming to Columbia. This was a part of the contents of Hurley's carpet bag, and when he opened the budget, the astonishment of the opposition can better be imagined than described. Hurley worked like a beaver. He found active co-operators in Leslie, Jencks, Webb, Stollbrand, Elliott, Pillsbury, and other members of the several delegations. The seed sown in the Convention began to show fruit. The insulted Timothy began to taste through the air, arms gesticulated vehemently, the sweets of revenge, and to-day, when the final result was announced, not the successful with an energy and industry which, with the candidate himself felt or expressed a tithe of the enthusiastic satisfaction to which this could not have been anything but enjoyable pertinacious, pyrotechnic, irrepressible little bunch of energy gave vent.

Of course, the friends of Dr. Mackey are distressed—deeply so. J. B. Dennis has lost the promised Customhouse; DeLarge mourns over the Charleston Postoffice; Ransier beholds the Surveyor's office receding in dim air; Rainey has given up all idea of filling the post of Collector of Georgetown; Bowen looks as blue as if he had already "gone up the spont," and every other member of the party who had been pledged an office or other reward (and it must be confessed they adhered bravely to the fortunes of their leader to the last), exhibits a degree of discomfiture equal to that of a discarded lover. Semebody too has suffered in purse. Debts have vet to be paid, for which there has been no quid pro quo. I hear that some unfortunate fellows received drafts on the Treasuling loud and deep at the suspicion that the amount of these I O U's is to be deducted from their pay. Poor deluded fellows! Many a one has been most egregiously sold. It is evidently worth something to have a vote in this Legislature, especially since the price has been raised. Two dollars and a haif was the sum fixed in the Convention, but here it has gone up to the most extravagant figures. Sawyer men are freely named who have been offered $200, $500, and in one instance $1000, to change their aliegiance. But as the homely saying has it, "that was a rooster that didn't fight." From first to last not more than two or three who originally voted for Mr. Sawyer abandoned their leader

The scene in the House to-day was interesting. The body convened at half-past eleven, and after the presentation of one or two petitions of no consequence, awaited the arrival of the Senate. At twelve they made their appearance, were assigned to seats in front, and the President of the Senate presided over the joint

Mr. Whittemore said that this was a joint Assembly of South Carolina, and its action could not be circumscribed by either House. The Speaker had no right to sty where senators might or might not go, or to prevent conference be ween the members of the respective delegations. He was, indeed, not the head of the body. The Speaker, F. J. Moses, Jr., replied that he could not recognize any person who addressed the chair except as members of the House of Representatives. Then, said Mr. Whittemore, "I address you, Mr. President of the Senate, as the only person from whom we can expect to get a hearing on this COLUMBIA, July 17, 1868.—The telegraph has floor."

[Subsequently, in a conference between the two presiding officers it was determined that the President of the Senate should preside over the joint Assembly.]

Balloting was promptly commenced—the excitement great-the back part of the hall crowded with white spectators. The Democrats, occupying seats in the rear and one corner of the hall, watched every manosuvre vigilantly, and, as had been previously agreed upon, voted solidly for Hon. J. B. Campbell. Had they done differently Mr. Sawyer would chy in Christendom would have been more se- have lost some of his Republican votes, and vere, and no tyranny more oppressive. Taking Mackey would have been elected-because one of the chief weapons used against Mr. S. in all the speeches and publications of his opponent was that he was a Democrat, Copperhead, rebel, blockade runner, and all sorts of horri ble things-which a good many of the ignorant members were willing to believe, especially when uttered with the peculiar emphasis o the ex-president of the Convention. The first ballot showed a gain of three or four votes for Mr. Sawyer, at the expense of Rev. Mansfield French. The signs were encouraging, and the President was listened to with breathless attention when he announced as the result : "Whole number voting 152; necessary to a choice 77, of which Mr. Mackey received 59, Mr. Sawyer 51, Mr. French 27, and Mr. Campbell 16. [Yesterday there were but 15 vot s for Mr. Campbell, but the arrival of Colonel R. M. Simms, Democrat, this morning, added to the Democratic strength.]

At this juncture W. J. Whipper (colored) rose and said that he desired to withdraw the name of Mansfield French, and for the hearty support rendered by the friends of that gentleman to return his thanks. It was due to Mr. French to state that his name was brought before the body at the earnest solicitation of members, some of whom, however, had not given to him that strength which he had a right to expect, and hence time was necessarily being consumed to little or no purpose, and the election was being delayed.

A long-drawn sigh of relief followed this an. nouncement, and members prepared for the second ballot. This was the "feeler;" but it was evident from the outset that in both the Senate and House, Sawyer had the heart of a proportion of Frenchmen. The Democrats still voted "Campbell," and the result stood:

members who had refused to vote, and moved that they be compelled to vote.

Senator Donaldson moved to lay that motion on the table, and it was agreed to vociferously. Sawyer stock was now going up with a bound. It had been whispered through the House that the Democrats, holding the election as they did under their own control, would presently the formost man in the ranks of the Democratic Preston Bair, the brave and gifted warrier of the Union. did under their own control, would presently vote for him as a matter of expediency. The deepest interest was accordingly manifested in learning how the manœuvre would be received. Major Simms, in the Senate, gave the cue, and and Bullock and Bryant, in the House, were the first to follow. Doyle, Field, Keith, Sloan and Stewart, in order to be a force in reserve, voted "Campbell" still; but the result showed that the precaution was unnecessary, for, of the 149 members voting, Mr. Sawyer received 76 votes and Mr. Mackey but 68. Wm. J. McKinlay wanted "three cheers for a Republican," and got them, from his side of the House. French's friends desired to have him also remembered in the pulmonary disturbance, and his share was not grudgingly meted out. Hats flew voices yelled, and members hugged each other thermometer at 102 degrees in the shade, to those who are fond of such things.

Shortly after this scene the joint Assembly dissolved, and the two Houses adjourned. As was telegraphed you yesterday, Mr. T. J Mackey will leave for Washington at once to enter a protest against the admission of Mr. Sawyer to the Senate on the ground that he is not eligible under the law-he having been, according to the allegation, a rebel, a blockade

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, under date of the 14th instant,

The Chinese treaty, the substance of which was given in these dispatches last night, was before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations this morning for consideration, and it was substantially agreed upon. Mr. Summer will prepare one or two amendments, and it will be reported to the Senate for action within a day or two. The treaty, in brief, may be considered the opening wedge to the admission of China to the family of enlightened nations. Its principal feature is, that it recognizes China as a nation, to whom we are to accord international rights and obligations, and in that respect is a matter of more importance to China than to us, since this country is very willing to accord such recognition, while France and England have been backward in that respect. The treaty further recognizes the right of the Chinese Empire to the integrity of its own territory, by providing that no system of internal improvements shall be forced upon her without the consent of the Emperor. It recognizes the principles of religious toleration, the right of emigration and immigration and of allegiance, and a reciprocal provision regarding schools and education. ATTACES ON GOVERNOR SEYMOUR. The New York Sun notes the fact that some of its Republican contemporaries attempt to prejudice the prospects of the Democratic ticket by intimating or asserting that Governor Seymour is of so delicate a constitution that the duties of the Presidency will break down the balance of his mind and make him insane. In that event, as Senator Nye has asserted, General Blair would become President, and at once carry out his programme of anarchy and bloodshed. The Sun very justly says: This appears to us a very improper mode of political warfare, which must recoil upon those who employ it. It seems designed to wound private feelings rather than to advance any legitimate purpose. Governor Seymour is now lifty-seven years old. He has been many years in public life; he has repeatedly been Governor of New York, an office whose discharge exercises quite as great a strain upon the nervous system and the mental faculties as that of the Presidency. In this station, and in every other, Governor Seymour-has exhibited capaci-ty and stoodiness which have given him a great reputation as a statesman. There has been nothing in his public career to justify this bugbear of possible insanity.

As we anticipated the last Radical bubble has burst, and what was called the "third party movement," and was intended to divide and distract the National Democracy, has proved an ignominious failure.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing on the 14th, says:

There is very little speculation to-night con-cerning the third party, and the whole thing, if it ever had any strength, has utterly col-lapsed. Chief-Justice Chase gives it no countenance whatever, and is not a party to the movement. The third party men are soreheads from both parties, whose only aim is office and self-advancement. They see no future gain in either Grant or Seymour, and as a matter to be expected they want a third caudidate. Nothing is definitely known of the views of the Chief-Justice on the subject of third candidate.

—The Sumter Watchman speaks thus of the message of Ex-Gov. Orr: "It were better pro-bably for Gov. Orr and others of the State who fully, with us in the effort to throw eff the de-bauched and odious tyranny under which we now struggle, cannot be recognized except in a position against us. The issue is a most vital one—one involving too much that is dear and sacred to be trifled with. Those who are not with us now, must be against us."

-The Chester Standard floats the names of Seymour and Blair at its masthead. It says:

no longer wear her cap of freedom. Let 'Union, energy and action' be the watchword, and the Radical shackles now binding the limbs of the Radical shackles now binding the limbs of the American people will cease to oppress, and Democracy stand forth triumphantly vindicated in the election of Seymour and Blair. We can and must carry the old Palmetto State. Aye, and old Chester with her heavy Radical Tajority must be brought into the Democratic old. With energy, action, union and a good cause to back us, there is nothing to prevent it. Already we have the wealth and intelligence of the district on our side, agents which, when

The Winnsboro' News carries the names of Seymour and Blair at the head of its columns. It speaks as follows of the "bayonet" bonds now proposed: "The tax-payers have but to speak out, and their bonds will not bring five cents on the dollar. Credit, says Governor Scott, who has speculated largely in South Carolina State bonds, 'is the life of a State.' If so, there is not much life in our present bayonet-born negro government. Still less life will there be in its bonds. Ah! Governor, you have done a good and sure thing, for we will make good the bonds you have bought. But he as wise as a common man for once, and don't touch your own paper. A sensible man, and a prudent, should get other people and not himself to take his own paper, because he knows it to be dangerous."

—At a meeting of delegates from the different Democratic clubs of Abbeville District, held on Monday last, the following resolutions were adopted: 1. That we have seen with patriotic joy the reunion of the Democracy of each and all the States in the late convention in the city of New York. And in the harmony of its councils. We recognize those men of glorious success in the approaching presidential election. 2. That we cordially approve and ratify the nomination of Horatic Seymour as the candidate of the Democratic party for President, and of Francis P. Blair for Vice President. 3. That we pledge our resolved and determined endeavor to bring South Carolina into the ranks of the Democracy of the Union, and that we confidently hope to achieve No. 15 Broadway, New York. June 4
